

Please do not tamper with the current prohibition on cell phone use on airliners! The thought of having to listen to someone who insists on dealing with their anxiety about flying by manically talking for the duration of the flight is almost unbearable. Please preserve the sanity of relative quiet.

Thanks,

David Richardson